2. Inventions Group I, Group II, Group III and Group IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, inventions Group I, Group II, Group III and Group IV has separate utility such as usable together in a single combination. In the instant case, invention Group I, Group II, Group III, and Group IV has separate utility such as event notification, thread scheduling, garbage collection, and memory allocation does not require each of the other groups to be usable. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
